The Executive Committee bade farewell to Eddy Maloka in the period under review, but welcomed three new members – Adam Habib, Lungisile Ntsebeza and Vukile Khumalo.

The staff and Trustees would like to express thanks to the Executive Committee, which meets four times a year, and which engages regularly with the staff of the Trust, providing guidance, support and ideas, as well as access to networks and resources.

DONORS

As always, the Trust is very grateful to our donors for their financial support and partnership. In addition to the financial support from the Atlantic Philanthropies and the Ford Foundation, the Trust secured funding from the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation, the Open Society Foundation for South Africa and the Heinrich Boell Foundation.

STAFF

The National Co-ordinator, Tracy Bailey continued to manage the affairs of the Trust during the period under review but left the Trust to pursue her academic interests in April 2007. In March 2007 we bade farewell to Heidi Michels as the Trust's Administrative & Project Assistant. Vanja Karth, who has a Masters degree in Justice and Transformation and eleven years of NGO management experience took over from Tracy in April 2007. Our thanks to Tracy for her excellent work in taking the Trust forward and for her commitment to the Trust's vision and goals.

PARTNERS

Lastly, the Trust would like to extend its thanks to its formal partners around the country, who assist the Trust in extending its dialogue activities to other regions, and who bring ideas and resources to bear on the work of the Trust. Our Durban partners are the Centre for Civil Society at the University of KwaZulu-Natal. In Johannesburg, the partnership is between the Edge Institute in Braamfontein, and the Sociology of Work Unit at the University of the Witwatersrand. In the Eastern Cape, the partnership is a three-way grouping between the Eastern Cape Socio-Economic Consultative Council, the Faculty of Humanities at Rhodes University, and the Faculty of Social Sciences and Humanities at the University of Fort Hare.
